MAC Capital AG supplies energy and water technology to “Tower Torres N”

International cooperation with Alhemos S.A. de CV in Puebla/Mexico building project

Buonas, Switzerland, August 24, 2011 – MAC Capital Group will bring modern, highly efficient building technology to a building project in Puebla, Mexico. Companies of MAC Capital AG in Buonas, Switzerland, will equip “Tower Torres N” with advanced environmental technologies. A first agreement to this purpose has now been signed; detailed contracts will be developed until beginning of September 2011. Project partners will be MAC Capital Tecnologias Verdes S.A. de C.V. and Alhemos S.A. de CV.

In the Tower’s contracting, procedures with proven resource efficiency and environmental benefit will be applied. Water technology will use Lavaris Technologies GmbH’s CarbonAdd procedure. Waste water treatment will follow the IONERGY® concept with a cost efficient, biological, decentralised compact treatment plant. In this context, the Tower will be equipped with separated grey water cleaning and black water treatment. This ensures multiple circulations and usability of the water volumes. The system is engineered to cover all steps of the process down to ground watering.

Energy technology encompasses a thermal power station in combination with solar thermal and solar power. Air conditioning technology meets highest cost efficiency and environmental criteria. The building meets LEED standard and is engineered to reach the gold/platinum classification.

Beyond this first mutual project the partners have already agreed upon their cooperation for the second Tower (in preparation) and additional further projects. In this context, Alhemos and MAC Capital Tecnologias Verdes will co-found a facility management society to service Torres N and additional realty. Alhemos (www.Alhemos.com) is a leading planning and construction company in Puebla, with one of their customers being Volkswagen AG.

Gert Wolf, CEO of MAC Capital AG: “This partnership marks our entry into the Latin American real estate markets and into facility management. We regard this project as a reference in these promising markets.”
